E*dwin M. Green, Jr., Ed.D., MSW,* was educated in the Baltimore City Public School System and graduated from the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, a college-preparatory high school, majoring in Engineering.

Dr. Green holds a bachelors' degree in Clinical Social Work (BSW) from Morgan State University, a Masters' degree in Management/Administration (MSW) from Howard University, and a Doctorate in Urban Educational Leadership (Ed.D.) also from Morgan State University. Dr. Green's research interests are culturally relevant teaching and the self-efficacy of opportunity students.

Dr. Green began his federal career as a Stay-In-School student intern. Upon completion of his graduate studies, he returned to federal service through the Presidential Management Intern Program (PMI) in September of 1999. In addition to the PMI program, Dr. Green has successfully completed the United States Department of Agriculture's Executive Leadership Program for Mid-Level Employees and his agency's Advanced Leadership Program.

Dr. Green has held positions in the public, non-profit, city, and federal levels. He has worked for the Baltimore City Public School System's Special Education Program, the Marshall Heights Community Development Organization in Washington, DC as a Clinical Case Manager for homeless adults and children, and Baltimore City's Office of Employment Development as an Employment Specialist. Dr. Green also served a year as an AmeriCorps member. One of his most rewarding experiences has been serving as Facilitator for the Greater Baltimore Urban League's (GBUL) Saturday Leadership Program. Dr. Green has also served as 5th – 8th grade Math teacher for the Higher Achievement student enrichment program and a volunteer 2nd grade reading teacher for Reading Partners.

Currently, Dr. Green serves as Adjunct instructor of youth development and teacher advocacy for Steven University's Community-based Education and Learning Program.

Dr. Green enjoys reading, writing, teaching, and spending time with family and friends. Dr. Green is a member of Young Government Leaders, the GBUL Guild, and the former Director of Youth Programs at a local Christian assembly. Dr. Green currently serves on the Board of Directors for the Southern Gospel Mission Association and was appointed by Maryland Governor Hogan to serve on the Citizens Review Board for Children for Baltimore County.

Dr. Green is Co-Executive Director for The 413 Center, Inc. which provides training, technical support and advocacy for Baltimore's children and their families. 413's mission is to support the holistic (emotional, spiritual, intellectual and physical) well-being of children, families, and communities.

Dr. Green lives in Baltimore, MD with his wife, Lisa, and 3 children, Courtney, Kamryn, and Kobe.

"A genuine leader is not a searcher for consensus but a molder of consensus."
